3.2 Interest on Purchases, Cash Advances & Other Charges

The interest charge on your monthly statement is calculated separately for Purchases and Cash Advances, additionally, your statement will reflect Other Charges which have been posted to your Account and which will form a part of your debt.

3.3 Interest on Retail Purchases and Other Charges

We will not charge you any interest on Purchases and other applicable Charges listed on your current statement if we receive your payment for the full balance on your current statement at our branch office, online or any other means of payment available by the payment due date shown on your statement at our branch office, online or any other means of payment available. If we do not receive your full payment by the due date, we will charge interest at our then current annual rate on each Purchase and Other Charges from the transaction billing date to the date it is repaid in full. Interest will be payable on outstanding Purchases and Other Charges carried forward from statements prior to the current statement until they are repaid in full.

Interest on Purchases and other applicable Charges for the current Statement Cycle is calculated by using the average daily balance method. The daily balance is calculated by taking the beginning balance of Purchases and other applicable Charges on your Account, adding any new Purchases, debit adjustments for Purchases and other applicable Charges as of the transaction date, and subtracting any payments or credit adjustments applied to Purchases and Other Charges. The average daily balance is calculated by dividing the total of all daily balances in the previous Statement Cycle and all daily balances, less new Purchases and Other Charges, in the current statement cycle by the number of days in the current and previous statement cycles. The current annual interest rate will then be charged at the relevant rate if the current statement balance is not paid in full by the payment due date shown in your monthly statement.

Charges are posted to your Account at the end of your cycle as a debit. Total interest charges will be the sum of the interest charges on Cash Advances and the interest charges on Purchases and Other Charges. There may be minor variations due to rounding.

3.4 Interest on Cash Advances

If you use the Card to obtain a Cash Advance, or if you use a Credit Card Cheque, we will charge you interest on each transaction from the date of the transaction to the date it is repaid in full. Interest is also calculated on your Cash Advances using the average daily balance method.

Interest on cash advance transactions taken in the current cycle is due and payable and will be charged from transaction date to billing date regardless of whether the current statement outstanding balance was repaid in full.
