

overview

Life expectancy is getting longer and retirees today face the challenge, and in some cases the reality, of running out of money. As your working life progresses, chances are you'll probably start to ask yourself how much money you'll need to retire. People that choose to retire early may have 5 or more years to wait until they receive Social Security or pension benefits. You may want to consider annuities as part of your retirement planning strategy because they provide a steady stream of income. It's time to take control of your financial future. Sagicor's Single Premium Immediate Annuity (SPIA) can provide you with a reliable and consistent income stream.

With Business Savings, your business can benefit from especially designed savings account that rewards your dedication to building a strong deposit base. The account rewards businesses who are serious about savings by providing the highest interest rate payable on all SBJ retail accounts.
